	Questions	Participant's Responses
1	You have to select one elective course. You want to take psychology course but course of English literature is taught by a professor who is highly recommended.
2	You want to take the Abnormal psychology course next semester but it is taken by a professor whom you don't like.
3	You are required to take a course of clinical psychology or organizational psychology. You think that clinical psychology is more interesting, but you are afraid that your poor background in abnormal psychology would keep you away from doing well in it. Organizational psychology is dull, but you can manage it.
4	You want to take educational psychology course in next semester but the student evaluation guide rates that instructor as unintelligent and ineffective.
5	You are required to take one course in psychology. You can choose psychological testing that will be boring or clinical psychology that will probably be quite difficult.
6	Two great football games are on TV at the same time. You want to watch both.
7	You want to see the view from a mountain top, but the only way to get there is to climb.
8	You are required to take medicine in order to get rid from illness.
